

Adult Education Center's learner earns a job at Baker Hughes!

Francisco came to the Adult Education Center in December of 2018 with limited English language skills. His goal was to improve his English to hopefully find a job in the United States. During the initial time of learning with us, he found a job as a baker's assistant at a bakery, but he dreamed to be able to find a job that will utilize his skills as a veteran Cash Flow Manager he developed at Baker Hughes in Venezuela. He quickly excelled in our beginner's English classes and signed up for our Entrepreneurship program.

While enrolled in the program, he interviewed and was hired at Baker Hughes in Houston doing the same job he had in Venezuela. Francisco shared that the interviewer told him that if he didn't have strong English skills, Baker Hughes would not have been able to hire him.

With his new job, Francisco wants to move into an apartment in Pearland so that he can enroll his son into a better school. Then he wants to look for a house after a few years. Last he plans to continue studying at the Adult Education Center to further increase his English language skills. We are so proud of you, Francisco!
